We're having problems with NWCAA's website

The Northwest Clean Air Agency is experiencing problems displaying air monitoring information on our website.

To see our accurate monitoring information, please go to the statewide air monitoring network at <https://fortress.wa.gov/ecy/enviwa/>.

Our contractor is working to fix the problem.

The Northwest Clean Air Agency is responsible for enforcing federal, state and local air quality regulations in Island, Skagit, and Whatcom counties. In addition to permitting and regulating industrial sources of air pollution, the agency provides services and information related to asbestos, indoor air quality, outdoor burning, wood stoves, and fireplaces. More information about the agency is available at www.nwcleanairwa.gov.
